Moving with the vision

Anyone who stepped onto the campus of Wichita State University in fiscal year 2013 could sense it: a feeling of energy, of movement, of optimism for growth and progress. To be sure, the rumbling of earth-moving equipment breaking ground for a new residence hall and the crumbling of walls at the Rhatigan Student Center renovation contributed to that dynamism. Anticipation soared as high as the skyscraper-tall construction cranes.

But there was more to our collective excitement. A shared sense of purpose and vision moved us. President John Bardo, inaugurated as WSU’s 13th president last October, unveiled a strategic plan that a committee he appointed identified as crucial to the university’s advancement. It defines a vision for Wichita State that emphasizes growth – in enrollment, in our discovery of new knowledge, in the quality of our student and faculty experiences and in our contributions to the world.

Other momentous events in fiscal year 2013 underscored the breadth and depth of our potential. Dr. Bardo brought in Anthony Vizzini, an MIT alumnus, as the new vice president for academic affairs to help carry out his goals.

The National Institute for Aviation Research opened the Aircraft Structural Test and Evaluation Center at the former Kansas Coliseum.

Then, of course, there was that Final Four feat, when it seemed the whole world was watching us ‘play angry’ in the NCAA tournament.

Embracing this forward momentum, the WSU Foundation pursued its mission to support the vision of the university. With the generous help of thousands of alumni and friends, we accomplished important victories: raising more money than ever before through our Annual Fund campaign, securing $22.6 million in gifts and posting an 8.8 percent return on our investments. This report provides our financial outcomes for the fiscal year, from July 1, 2012, to June 30, 2013.

With a new strategic plan in place, new buildings rising on campus and new leaders on the front lines, we are indeed a university in motion. Join us as we seek to fulfill Wichita State’s vision for the future. It promises to be an exciting ride.

Donor Bill of Rights

Philanthropy is based on voluntary action for the common good. It is a tradition of giving and sharing that is primary to the quality of life. To assure that philanthropy merits the respect and trust of the general public, and that donors and prospective donors can have full confidence in the not-for-profit organizations and causes they are asked to support, we declare that all donors have these rights:

• To be informed of the organization’s mission, of the way the organization intends to use donated resources, and of its capacity to use donations effectively for their intended purposes.
• To be informed of the identity of those serving on the organization’s governing board, and to expect the board to exercise prudent judgment in its stewardship responsibilities.
• To have access to the organization’s most recent financial statements.
• To be assured their gifts will be used for the purposes for which they were given.
• To receive appropriate acknowledgment and recognition.
• To be assured that information about their donations is handled with respect and with confidentiality to the extent provided by law.
• To expect that all relationships with individuals representing organizations of interest to the donor will be professional in nature.
• To be informed whether those seeking donations are volunteers, employees of the organization or hired solicitors.
• To have the opportunity for their names to be deleted from mailing lists that an organization may intend to share.
• To feel free to ask questions when making a donation and to receive prompt, truthful and forthright answers.

The text of this statement in its entirety was developed by the American Association of Fund-Raising Counsel (AAFRC), Association for Healthcare Philanthropy (AHP), Council for Advancement and Support of Education (CASE) and the Association of Fundraising Professionals (AFP), and adopted in November 1993.

The pink bars represent other assets, which would include the Ulrich and anthropology museums’ collections, current funds, real estate and receivables.
The Pooled Endowment Fund is a diversified investment portfolio designed to provide support to the university for perpetuity. The asset allocation is approved by the Wichita State University Foundation Board and the investments for the pool are managed by the Investment Committee.

The asset allocations are designed to support spending policies to maintain the purchasing power of the endowment for future generations while enhancing the real (inflation adjusted) principal value of the endowment. The current asset allocation of the portfolio is 45 percent global equity, 20 percent global fixed income, 20 percent diversifying strategies and 15 percent real assets.

Gifts of $10,000 or more are used to create an endowment to benefit the university as designated by the donor. A distribution of endowment funds for fiscal year 2013 was based on 4.25 percent of a five-year moving average of the endowment fund’s market values as of June 30.
